

ECLIC TERMS AND CONDITIONS

DATA PROTECTION & PRIVACY POLICY

SCOPE

These ECLIC terms and conditions apply to the ECLIC services supplied by ECLIC, the European Chemical Logistics Information Council, to its ECLIC “Participants”.

The term “Participant” means every natural or legal person, public authority, agency or company who requests ECLIC information, requests an ECLIC website account or participates in any ECLIC Use Case.

The ECLIC Terms and Conditions do cover the conditions as part of the ECLIC website and ECLIC association. More specific “Use Case Terms and Conditions” do apply when a “Participant” decides to subscribe to a specific ECLIC Use Case.

Prior to formal ECLIC account registration or login to the ECLIC website, the Participants have been informed of the Terms and Conditions and have accepted all provisions thereof. ECLIC reserves the right to modify unilaterally and at any time these Terms and Conditions

1. Purposes of data processing

This is the privacy statement of ECLIC, the European Chemical Logistics Information Council. ECLIC is a non-profit association with its head office in Brussels and aims to facilitate secured data sharing among participants of industries related to chemical logistics through a data sharing application platform allowing to transform the current manual and paper driven logistics processes into more integrated, collaborative, electronic and real time processes of data sharing.

a) Participation

ECLIC will hold and process personal data in the context of the “participation” to ECLIC for the following purposes:

- Managing your company and user profile info
- Managing access to our ECLIC website and Participant services
- Sending you information we believe may be of interest to you based on your company profile or the interests you have communicated to us
- Seeking information about you and your company for the submitted requests

- The lawful basis for processing your data is within the legitimate interests of ECLIC and in line with our non-profit mission.

b) Project implementation

ECLIC will hold and process data of representatives of Participants of ECLIC and of persons involved in other Use Case projects in order to achieve the shared objectives of the projects and the ECLIC mission. ECLIC will also hold and process data of persons who apply to take part in ECLIC activities and/or workshop meetings. In all cases, we believe that there is a contractual basis for processing such personal data.

c) General purposes

ECLIC will hold and process personal data of ECLIC Participants for the following purpose:

- providing information which we reasonably believe is relevant to your personal or company goals
- managing your participation in an ECLIC Use Case, ECLIC event, or any other ECLIC activity
- managing your partnership with ECLIC in a joint project or project Use Case application In the case of general purposes, the lawful basis for processing your data is in the legitimate interests and in line with ECLIC's non-profit mission.
- Verifying if you and your company are an active member of one of the ECLIC founding associations, ECTA, essenscia-Cefic or EFTCO.

2. Personal data

The personal data which ECLIC holds and processes may cover:

- Name, job title and company name, address & invoicing details
- Contact information including email address, phone numbers
- Specific Use Case licence and Payment information you have provided in the context of a specific ECLIC Use Case subscription
- Banking details you have provided where you are entitled to payment for participation in an ECLIC Use Case or activity

3. Third party providers

ECLIC uses third party providers to deliver the ECLIC Participants benefits and manage your data on a confidential basis. In order to deliver its services, ECLIC acts in partnership with project partners. Those project partners may have access to your data in the context of enabling your participation in Use Case or project activity not directly managed by ECLIC. ECLIC will not share your data with other third parties without your permission and ECLIC will never sell your personal data with a commercial purpose.

4. Where your data is stored

All contact information that we collect from you is stored in a Participant database which is hosted in Belgium and the hosts are committed to GDPR compliance. By submitting your personal data and or accepting the ECLIC terms and conditions, you agree to this transfer, storing and/or processing of your personal and company data.

5. Data sources

The data we hold may come from one of the followings: your subscription to our ECLIC newsletter; a personal email exchange towards ECLIC for more info, your personal ECLIC company pre-registration application; data publicly available online; business cards; your registration for an ECLIC Use Case or working group.

6. ECLIC website and cookies

Our ECLIC website uses cookies to collect anonymous information about the ECLIC web pages you visit, the software tools you use and your IP address & location. These statistical data about the user browsing actions and patterns help us to improve the ECLIC website content, do not identify any individual and are not used for advertisement or any other commercial purposes.

7. Controlling your personal information

If you believe that any information we are holding on you is incorrect or incomplete, please update your ECLIC user profile online via <http://www.eclic.eu>. We will promptly correct any information found to be incorrect.

If you unsubscribe from our email communications, your data will still be held in an archive status in the database. If you wish it to be deleted, you must write to the email address below.
